

Getting the verdict you want

The fit of your clothes is as important as the style

An ill fitting suit conveys lack of caring...not a lack of money

Your jacket should button (which buttons?)

Pant bottoms should touch the back of your shoe

Sleeves should not cover your hand

Nothing should be tight

Your shirt should be a long sleeve white or blue and always clean and pressed.

A good rule is, if it has a button...button it

Spread collar shirts are preferred to button collar ones

No french cuffs

Ask for shirt sleeve tip

Getting the verdict you want

The mighty tie...

What is a conservative tie?

What is an appropriate color?

Where should the tie end?

Don't forget your shoes and socks

Black or Cordovan shoes are preferred

Laces are preferred to slip-on.

Make sure they are polished

Your belt should be the same color as your shoes

Your socks should match your pants

You can default to navy or black

Comments from clients who are attorneys

“Make sure that there are no holes in your shoes, we will see them.”

“Get a haircut the week or so before the interview.”

“If you look like you do not take care of yourself then how do we know you will take care of our clients?”

“Dress as if you are going to court for our firm.”

“Take as much care in how you look as you did researching our firm.”

“You can not go wrong in a grey suit, white shirt and a red tie.”
